OF WAR Excitable members of the Turf Alliance are still fuming over what they call the unwarranted action of the jockey clubs in cutting them off from betting privileges. Cool heads like Henry Stedeker, "Mike" Murray and Lucien Appleby say little. They are content to await further developments. The Alliance cannot take official action in the matter, because the jeckey clubs did not see fit to inform it of their adop-tion of the resolution against bookmakers' associations embers thereof. This intentional oversight has caused more ill-feeling than the resolution itself. By ignoring the existence of the Turf Alliance the clubs have placed themselves in an absolutely indeent position. Any advance that may be made ward a reconciliation must come from the book-This is galling to their pride.

Colonel M. Lewis Clark, president of the Louisville Jockey Club, comes in for a fair share of abuse the Tremort Club. By some he is responsible for the existing situation of offsirs, his ceaseless conflict with the Western nakers' Association being fresh in the minds of all pencillers. Said one of his critics last night: "Lewis Clark is at the bottom of all this. He has talked the Eastern men over to his side and made them do as he liked. The truth about Mr. Clark is that he's got a race track down in Kentucky that he thinks is first class, but everybody knows that it ain't even third class. He wants $15,000 for betting privileges that ain't worth $7,000. That's what's the matter with Lewis Clark."

'Aw, you don't know what you're talkin' about," said another "bookie," one of the best known men in "The Eastern clubs didn't take their cue from Lewis Clark. The man who's makin' all this trouble is sitting in the lobby of the St. James Hotel this minute. His name is Phil Dwyer. I know what a talking about. Wait and see if I'm not right."

"The curious thing about it," chimed in a third, "is that Mr. Withers should have got mixed up with the row. We haven't had any trouble with him. Every-thing went as smooth as clockwork last summer at Monnouth. Why, Mr. Withers hasn't got a leg to by the papers that Withers says bookmakin' is a payin' business. Guess he's right—payin' business for the clubs. Payin' with us, too: we're always payin' out more'n we're takin' in. I'm ready to bet $600 to $500 that you can't name more'n five men who have made money at the business this year—I mean legitimate bookmaking.

"Then where does all the money go?" he was asked by an outsider. "The public don't got it, and you say the bookmakers don't.

"It goes into the treasuries of the jockey clubs. Why don't the newspapers show up these clubs! They're makin' more money than they know what to do with. Some of 'em payin' from 40 to 100 per cent on watered stock! The papers have got a wrong impression of us bookies. We ain't the ones that get the public's money."

"Why do so many of you stick to the business!" Because we can't do anything else. Bookmaking's a trade that requires brains, capital and experience. We've learned it and we've got to follow it for better or worse. What do you suppose most of the boys are doin' now! Huntin' high and lew for somebody to back 'em next year. Mighty few of 'em have got capital enough to start another season with."

"Say, d'ye reckon the jockey clubs 'll let us bet with their imported bookies next year?" queried the

A SUNDAY EXHIBITION OF PICTURES.

The first of the series of Sunday exhibitions of pictures which Mr. Verestchagin proposes to give during the remainder of his season, at the rooms of the American Art Association, in Twenty-third-st. took place yesterday. The result of the experiment was a decided success. From the hour of opening doors until late last evening there was a steady flow of visitors, and at one time of the afternoon the rooms were inconveniently full. Among yesterday's audience were to be seen large numbers of working people, who appeared to be in no wise lacking in appreciation of Mr. Verestchagin's unique skill. Perhaps the subjects which took up the largest share of interest and attention on the part of largest share of interest and attention on the part of beholders were "Refore the Attack on Plevna." li-lustrating the position of the Russian forces awaiting the signal for the beginning of that famous fight; "After the Battle," a touching picture of patient heroism and self-sacrifice; "Blowing Sepoys from the Guns," an episode of the Indian Muthy, and "The Spy," a powerfully drawn minor sketch, which seemed to have a fascination for all beholders.

GENERAL BROWNELL'S FUNERAL. The funeral of General William H. Brownell was held yesterday afternoon in the Lee Avenue Congregaheld yesternay alternoon in the visitional Church, Brooklyn. Many officers of the National Guard of both New-York and Brooklyn and members of the 47th Regiment, which he formerly commanded, were present, and the church was crowded. An eloquent tribute was paid to the dead soldier by Rev. Henry A. Rowell, pastor of the church and chap-lain of the 47th Regiment. The burial was in Green-wood. Plags were displayed at half mast on all the armories in the city in honor of General Brownell.

A TRIBUTE TO GEORGE H. FORSTER'S MEMORY. The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Eaton paid a tribute to the memory of George H. Forster at the Church of the Divine Paternity, at Fifth-ave. and Forty-fifth-st., yesterday Paternay.

The following is in part what he said: "Tuesday morning the funeral in part what he said; was held in this church of one whom we all honored and loved. The burden of sorrow and loss was so great at that time that it seemed inappropriate that any words be spoken. But the work and the worth of this man were so great that my heart prompts me to say a few words from the altar to which he bowed for so many years. A man surrounded by a beautiful family and filled with noble ambitions was stricken down in the very prime

Mr. Faton then gave a sketch of Mr. Forster's career " In the various changes that have marked the political career of this man there has never been one word said against his character. But during all the press of duties, political or professional, he always had time to come to worship at the house of God. He served as a counsellor and an adviser in this parish for many years."

THE FUNERAL OF COL. OSCAR RYDER,

The Church of the Transfiguration, Twenty-ninth-st. and Fifth-ave., was filled yesterday with friends and commades of Colonel S. Oscar Ryder, over whose body was commands of chuneral service, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Houghton, pastor of the church. The choir, led by Mr. Little, sang several dymas, and after Dr. Houghton had delivered the last prayer the coffin, followed by the chotisters, was carried out of the church to the hearse chotisters, was carried out of the church the heart amid a harmony of voices singing "Pilgrim of Light." A. V. Ryder, M. S. Ryder, the widow, and other members of the family occupied the mourning coaches. WHO WILL BE APPOINTED BY MR. HEWITT?

HOW THE SCHOOLS WILL BE AFFECTED BY THE CHOICE OF COMMISSIONERS-ILL FEEL. ING IN THE BOARD.

Mayor Hewitt has sent communications to the principals of all the public schools in the city, asking them to inform him how frequently the school commissioners and inspectors are in the habit of visit ing the schools. Each principal is requested to refer to the visitors' book, in which the names of the visitors and school officials are written when they come to the schools. This measure is regarded as an effort on the part of the Mayor to find to what extent he officials are interested in their duties, that he may be guided in making the appointments which he sends to the Board on Wednesday. The schools are divided into groups every year, and each group is assigned to one of the twenty-one commissioners for his attention. There are no regular times for visiting there, but he is supposed to keep himself thoroughly informed on the needs of his group, and to maintain a general supervision over Some of the commissioners, like William Wood, Mrs. Agnew and Miss Dodge, are continually visiting their own schools and others, but there are many whose visits do not exceed two or three a year, but whose duties are confined to board and committee work. The register in the schools, however, will give a one-sided showing, as the officers who are most frequently in the schools rarely register their names while those that come at long intervals invariably do

The movement on the part of the Mayor is considered to have been suggested by those interested in the Public School Reform Association, which was organized last spring. This association has no relation with the school officials, but some of the teachers are members, and many of the commissioners regard its purposes favorably. By others it is thought to be directed by the "minority," which is regarded as a disturbing faction" of the Board. To this element is attributed the use of a great influence at present to prevail on Mayor Hewitt to appoint commissioners whom it favors, that it may secure a majority in the Board counsels next year. Seven appointments are to be made, and if the present minority secures these members it will control the Board. The most active among these members are Henry L. Sprague, H. Walter Webb, Henry Schmitt and the women commi-

The feeling has become extremely bitter between the two sides. It is maintained that the members in the minority have little knowledge of and no sympathy with the public school system, which they assume to be trying to reform. Their own training has been in colleges and private schools, and they look upon the public school system as a charitable institution. The charges against Superintendent Jasper originated with the minority, and it is argued that their methods are demoralizing to the school interests. They are now conducting a general investigation of the present methods, which, it is said, instead of being broad, is narrow and personal and still directed against the Superintendent and other officers of the Board. On their part the minority insists that the system has fallen into a rut, that it is behind the systems of other cities in this country, and that it is yearly becoming so much more cumbersome and expensive that it will

The four new bells from St. Louis that have been out into the new Church of the Immaculate Concep ion. One hundred and fiftleth-st. and Courtlandt eve., were blessed yesterday afternoon with great ceremony by the Very Rev. Arthur J. Donnelly, vicargeneral, assisted by a large number of priests. TROUBLE IN A HOBOKEN REGIMENT. There is trouble in the camp of Company E, 2d Regi-ment, N. G. N. J., of Hoboken, which threatens to develop into something serious. The captain of the company is Frederick Jackson, a wealthy Hoboken milkman, who is a veteran of the famous New-York 7th. Augustus W. Schimber was recently elected a member of the company. At the meeting following his election there was an election for first sergeant, and Schimber was about to vote for one of the two candidates, who were Messrs. Worth and Sullivan, when Captain Juckson objected. His reasons for objecting were demanded, and the captain and that Schimber had not been legally elected. Schimbers friends became indignant, and Privates Raiph, Folster and Fackert wa.mly defended him. Captain Jackson finally consented to let him vote, but during the heated discussion Schimber had left the room, and when his friends brought him back he declined to vote. Subsequently fourteen members of the company, including six non-commissioned officers, preferred charges against Captain Jackson of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The facts of the trouble became known to the other compaties in the regiment, case, except that it was merely a family quarrel. Captain Jackson said yesterday that he favored Worth for sergeant because he was the better man of the two, and thus incurred Sullivan's camity. Schimber, he declared, was not legally elected because he was not of age. The men who made the charges against him, the captain continued, were actuated by personal spite. Only fourteen of the fifty-eight members were opposed to him, and some of these had already retracted and he expected them to apologize. Hilbert was held by Justice Hunold, of College Point, for causing the death of Joseph Kugler two weeks ago by riding over him. Five companions of Hilbert, who were held as witnesses, were admitted to bail in $5,00 each. . . A body, afterward identified as that of John Brennan, was found yesterday morning in a ditch beside the railroad track at the foot of East Third-st., in two feet of water. He probably fell into the ditch while drunk.

WINFIELD.—A fire broke out in the Roman Catholle Church lest February and the elider was totally destroyed, together with one wing of the pastor' bones and a portion of the sisters' acalemy. The church has been rebuilt, but a great deal of expense has been incurred, and the ladies of the congregation are to have a fair, beginning to night, through which, it is hoped, all obligations will be cleared off. A sold sliver trumper, with gold-lined bell and monthplece, presented by Mayor P. J. Gleason, of Long island City, is to be veted to the most pepular fire

MOUNT VERNON.—As an evidence of the rapid increase in the value of real estate along the line of the New-York, New-Haven and Hertford Railroad, the company, in order to secure more land for the sudding and widening of its resaded, was obliged to pay $16,400 for three quarters of an acre of land upon which to remove its station, a little northeast of its present place. There are to be four tracks all the Avy from New-York to Portchessor, with no surface crossing at any point along the line. The three-quarters of an acre mentioned was a part of an eleven-acre plot purchased five years ago by David G. Burron for $20,000.

GENTLEMEN'S EVENING DRESS

*Delury says": The fine West-End tailors of London are making the Dress Ceat with a low rolling turn and silk-faced. The walst-seam still comes two inches be-low the natural waist, and the skirts narrow in considerably at the bottom. Fine Whip-cords and Einstic Contings still maintain their hold upon popularity in preference to the old-fashioned broadcloths. The Dress Waistcoat is made, as a change, in white ashmere or silk, and double-breasted. The Trousers are cut perfectly straight and slightly maller at the bottom, and made from the same material

The second figure represents the Invercess Cape. which has become very popular for Evening Wear.

Its width is comfortable, and the length to cover the dress-coat beneath. The whole coat or the wings only dress-cont beneath. The winde coat of the winds of the turn.
The materials chiefly used among the fine trades are the rough Thibets and Vicana Cloths. We are making these coats in the above manner for $25 and $30. This is the cheapest and most suitable garment a gentleman
